

By clicking on one of the dials, you can quickly see all the parameters. The solid pointer is the latest result and the shadow pointer is the previous result so you know which way you are headed. The green, yellow and red areas around the dials indicate the control zones (in control, out of action and out of control). The color behind the dial is the color balance.