

The Film Characteristic curve shows density as a function of exposure. The dotted line shows the reference or operating level.